Herrmann and the Cheat.

A characteristic story is told of Herrmann. The incident took place at a well known London club, where cards were one of the favorite games indulged in for stakes by no means insignificant. It was observed that on these occasions a certain member almost invariably rose a considerable winner. At length so marked became the good fortune of this member that another determined to probe the matter to the bottom. One evening, accordingly, at his own rooms, he introduced Herrmann under a false name to a select party of the members, among whom figured the suspected one. At the close of the night's amusement, when the guests had departed, the host turned to the conjurer and demanded his opinion. "Not a doubt of it," replied Herrmann, "our friend cheats, but exactly how I can't say yet. Give me another chance." A second meeting was subsequently arranged, and play began. Suddenly Herrmann, looking straight at the supposed culprit, exclaimed, "Where did you get that king?" "Where?" replied the other. "Out of the pack, of course." "Impossible, my dear sir," retorted Herrmann, "for I happen to have all the four kings here," and thereupon he calmly drew them from his sleeve and laid them on the table.—St. James Gazette.

Dress Reform For Babies.

The latest invention in the dress reform for babies, which is rapidly becoming more popular, is that all the garments can be put on at once. The first garment is a princess slip of fine flannel or crepeoline, made with high neck and long sleeves. The next is a sleeveless garment of nearly the same shape and material, and last comes the miniskirt dress. All three fasten together at the back with three buttons. The abdominal band is shorter and not tight, and the feet are left bare.

Costly Pipes.

Among the pipes shown at a jewelry establishment was one of meerschaum, with an amber mouthpiece, the bowl being crowned with a gold mounting that covered the rim around the top and extended down the sides to the depth of perhaps a quarter of an inch below the edge. On top the mounting was flat and smooth; below the edge, on the sides, it was etched. The price of this pipe was $110. The owner of a pipe with a gold rim around the top might smoke it, or it might be that he would let it lie on his table.

Jeweled pipes are not an article of common sale, but they are not so uncommon as to be remarkable. Such pipes are usually mounted to order, and they are probably always bought for gifts. They are variously mounted, sometimes with a band of diamonds and rubies around the bowl at the top, sometimes diamonds are set around the stem where the mouthpiece joins it. A jeweled pipe may cost $250.

Silver mounted meerschaum pipes at $50 are articles of regular sale. There are pipes of this sort at prices ranging from $20 to $75. These are not carved pipes, but usually perfectly plain. They are of the finest materials and workmanship and of fine designs.

There are perfectly simple little briar pipes with a plain silver mounting and amber mouthpiece that sell at $15, but the briar is the very choicest and hand-somest, the amber mouthpiece of the finest quality and joined to the pipe by a lock stem, and all the workmanship on the pipe is of the best. They are the very finest of briar pipes.—New York Sun.

The word "fie" or its equivalent in sound exists in all languages and in every one is expressive of disgust. In the Icelandic the word "pfai" means putridity.

There is no sadder sight than that of the orphan child bereft of the loving care of a mother. If women would but learn the vital importance of taking proper care of their health, and always look after the health and vigor of the organs distinctly feminine, the pitiful Sabbath day procession of motherless children that goes to the cemetery to "put flowers on ma-ma's grave" would be materially reduced in numbers. Too many women bring a child into the world at the sacrifice of their own life. This sad tragedy may be avoided by any woman who will resort to the right remedy.

The usual dangers of maternity are banished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly and only on the important and delicate organs that bear the burdens of motherhood. It makes them healthy and strong, vigorous and elastic. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period, insures the health of the newborn, and makes its advent free from danger and almost free from pain. Over 90,000 have testified to its virtues. Druggists who offer substitutes are untrustworthy.

Mrs. William Vincent, of Sidsaw, Houghton Co., Mich., (care Birgland's Camp, Box B), writes: "When I first began to take your 'Favorite Prescription,' four years ago, I was suffering with local weakness and heart trouble. At times I could hardly endure the pain in my sides, quite low down, and had such a pain between my shoulders I could not sleep at night. Was just as tired in the morning as at night. At times there was a very sharp pain around my heart. When I would stoop over there was a dull aching just under the heart. I took ten bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and can most truly say that as a result I never felt better in my life. I was more like a young girl than a mother of family. The pain all left me so I know that your medicines will do all that medicine can do."

A headache is a symptom of constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, promptly and permanently. They do not gripe. Druggists sell them.

SILVER LEADERS CONFER.

A conference of the acknowledged leaders of the Silver Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans was held in Washington last Saturday. Though the meeting was not final and no authorized statement of the proceedings was made public, it is understood that the object of the meeting was to devise a plan for holding the silver forces in line and presenting an unbroken front to the gold men in the Congressional elections this year. The national leaders say the necessity of the unification of all the silver men is apparent and men of all party affiliations, who believe in free coinage or the use of both gold and silver as money, should regardless of minor differences, operate in unison against the common enemy, the single gold standard men.

It is evident, even to the most unsophisticated, that the great hope of the gold bugs lies in dissensions and divisions in the silver ranks. To create such divisions will be the great aim of the gold men in the next election. As was the case in Ohio money will be spent lavishly to get men like Coxey to make stump speeches denouncing the Silver Democrats and Silver Republicans for the purpose of dividing those who favor bimetalism. In this way only can the gold Republicans and Democrats hope to control the next Congress. They see the hand writing on the wall, but by the liberal use of money they expect to avert the defeat that awaits them. They think the masses can be arranged against each other as the Indian tribes of the west were in early days and every means known to selfish and unscrupulous politicians, with abundance of money, will be used to divide the silver forces, and array Populists and Silver Democrats and Silver Republicans against each other.

ARID LANDS.

Hon. Binger Herman, Commissioner of the General Land Office, is opposed to the bill now before Congress granting to the several States all the arid lands within their limits upon condition that the lands shall be reclaimed for agricultural purposes by the respective States. Commissioner Herman has prepared an adverse report on the bill in which he sets forth that under the Carey act of 1894, which granted a million acres of arid land to each State wherein arid lands are situated, only a few of the States have availed themselves, to any extent, of the benefits of the law. These States, which have taken limited acres under the Carey act are Wyoming, which took 99,037 acres; Montana, 10,632 acres; Idaho, 53,000 acres; Utah, 221,143 acres; and Washington, 83,451 acres.

Mr. Herman is a western man and represented Oregon in the House of Representatives several terms. He expresses the opinion that instead of the proposed bill the Carey act should be amended so as to give capital a more satisfactory guarantee and thus induce it to invest in the reclamation of arid lands under the law; but he disapproves of the effort to increase the quantity of lands which can now be acquired by the States.

Nevada is entitled to 1,000,000 acres under the Carey act. It has taken no steps to acquire those lands because it is not in a condition financially to reclaim them. Congress should take the initiative in this matter and appropriate as much for reclaiming them as it does for improving rivers and harbors, and make homes for a half million or more families and thus relieve the congested cities of the East of their surplus population.

ALUMINUM was known to only the laboratory of the chemist a few years ago, but even then it was predicted that some day the metal would be widely used if it could be successfully manufactured in large quantities. This forecast is being realized. The production in the United States in 1897 was 1,300,000 pounds; in 1897 the output reached 4,000,000 pounds.

AFTER traveling thousands of miles through the agricultural sections of the Union, the Secretary of Agriculture says that the "farmer's home is becoming more and more the seat of comfort, the center of intelligence, the source of strong men for all vocations, and the sure safeguard of the Republic."

A YOUNG man without a vice and who shuddered at the sound of bad words has cleaned out a big trust company in New York of which he was the confidential bookkeeper. The Buffalo Express is of the opinion that this will confirm the impression of the ungodly that there is such a thing as being too good.

A STATISTICIAN says there is relatively more insanity in Switzerland than in the United States, and gives loneliness as the reason. Whatever may be said of the American, he is not lonesome, as a rule, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The senatorial fight in Ohio, whatever its outcome, is sure to weaken the Republican party of that state by dividing it into bitter factions, and just as sure to strengthen the silver cause, which from now on will fight "a house divided against itself."

It was to be expected that New York bankers would oppose the postal savings bank plan. The announcement of their position on the question will not lessen its popularity; rather, it is proof of the real value the plan will be to the people at large.

The Chicago Record remarks: New York is now distinguished as the only city in the world which can be traversed directly from one side to the other by ocean steamships.

Fannie's Triumph.

Dainty little Fannie Grayson clapped her hands in ecstasy and danced and sang as if she had been enchanted. Then she ran to her sister Lillian and hugged her and said:

"Oh, I'm so happy!"

"What's happened?" Lillian asked.

"Why, didn't you see Tom Taddington when he went away just now?" Fannie replied.

"Yes, what of him?"

"He asked me to be his wife. Oh, Lil, just feel how my heart flutters."

Lillian Grayson was tall and willowy, and she had a good sized muscle. Holding her sweet, tender, sister off at arm's length, she exclaimed:

"Well, I don't see why you should go crazy over that. You surely didn't accept? Remember that we come of an old family. Our grandfather made enough money in the logging business to be able to retire when he was 47 years old, while Tom Taddington's mother had to teach school for a living until she got married. There is a social gulf between our families that never can be bridged."

"Oh, bother your gulfs and bridges," cried Fannie. "I told Tom that I could not think of being his wife, and he started away swearing that he would either kill himself or propose to Clara Coulton. Think of it! If he kills himself for love of me, all the papers will want my picture and print columns and columns about it, or if he goes and marries Clara see what fun it'll be to tell the other girls how I drove him to it. Oh, I wish I were a man for about half an hour. If I were, I'd celebrate by going out and smoking the biggest and strongest cigar I could get hold of."—Cleveland Leader.

Logging Railroads.

Time was when the logs were drawn over roads of snow and ice on the great rude sledges to the banks of some river, drawn out on the ice and left until the springtime, when they would be floated down stream to the mills. In some places the system is still in vogue, but in large measure all this has been changed. Logging railroads have been built into the forests, enabling the owners of pine lands to reach forests far from any stream. Spurs from the main branch of the road are built out like the fingers of an enormous hand clutching at the defenseless pines. After a tortuous passage through the paths of the woods the log is loaded upon the skidway—an incline leading down to the railway track. The skids are long, tough poles of tamarack or some hard wood, placed about 20 feet apart.

The logs easily roll down on these skids and are drawn by horses up on the short, wide freight cars, and as fast as one car is loaded another takes its place, until a train of perhaps 80 cars is made up. The road is a very rough one, and the trains are supplied with the best of airbrakes, for the grades are steep, and great care must be exercised or the trains will break in two and disaster and possibly loss of life will follow if a part of one of the trains breaks away and starts down the grade. "Mountain climbers," the powerful engines in use in mining regions, are a part of the equipment of a logging railroad.—"The Story of a Pine Board," by W. S. Harwood, in St. Nicholas.

Headaches.

For most aches of the head the hot water bag is a good friend, but when the face has the flush and the eyes show a peculiar look which tell of a congestive headache then heat in that neighborhood is insupportable. Instead of this apply cold. If you have no ice bag, fill your hot water bag pretty full of ice water, put in pieces of ice as large as will pass the mouth and lay this at the back of the patient's neck. Applied to the armpits and wrists, ice often affords great relief to the sufferer.

When Mr. Labouchere, the English journalist, was in St. Petersburg at one time, he saw the Dutch minister at a reception dive his hand deep into a box of cigars placed for the use of visitors and fill his pockets full of them before going.

A worthy man wants work of any kind. He is in Reno in the hope that the climate will restore the health of his wife who is very ill. The Rev. Mr. Flawith will give information if desired.

Dr. T. T. Thompson will be at his residence, corner 5th and Ralston streets, for one week, where he is prepared to do any work in the dental line. A free back will run to his house. Telephone connection. j4-w1.

As it seems winter is just about to begin S. Emrich has concluded to make a clearance sale of his winter stock at greatly reduced prices. Jackets, capes, ladies and childrens underwear, flannels, dress goods and many other articles are on the list of the out, and those intending to make purchases will make a great saving by calling at once, while his stock is still complete.

A public meeting will be held at the Methodist Church on Friday evening next to discuss the most practical methods of helping the boys and young men of Nevada to live of sobriety and honor. Dr. J. E. Stubbs, Rev. Frederic C. Lee, Hon. E. C. Norcross, Judge Carler, Rev. F. Flawith and others will deliver short addresses. A question box will be a feature of the meeting. Everybody asked to come.

I have just received a complete and well selected stock of gents' furnishing goods, underwear, overalls, socks, suspenders, handkerchiefs, ties, etc., which I guarantee to be equal if not better than any in the town, which I will sell at prices that defy competition. My stock of domestic and imported cigars and tobaccos is complete in every particular, comprising such brands as the Nerve, Carl Dunder and Royal in the 5-cent goods, and El Belmont, Sanchez, Hays, De Vallens, Internations, Hotel Brunswick, General Arthur and many others in the imported goods. Call and be satisfied. Free employment office in connection with the store. A. NELSON.

The City Council.

The City Council met in regular session last evening, all the members being present except Councilman Wells.

The question of paying certain park, sewer and University bonds from the city funds came up for consideration, but after some discussion was laid over until next meeting.

P. Andreuetti appeared before the Council and stated that he had commenced digging a cellar and was desirous of selling the dirt to be excavated to the city to spread upon the streets. The Board declined to purchase, but granted Mr. Andreuetti permission to spread the dirt on the Streets under the direction of the Superintendent of Streets.

Dr. J. A. Lewis was appointed a member of the City Board of Health to fill the vacancy caused by the removal from Reno of Dr. Phillips.

There were several brief and pointed discussions on minor matters.

Bills to the amount of $713.33 were considered and ordered paid.

A statement of the receipts and disbursements for the eight months last past compiled by Councilman Noyes was presented as a matter of information, a recapitulation of which will be of interest.

An Undignified Court Proceeding.

The court room of the Lassen county Superior Court was last Saturday the scene of an extraordinary encounter between a Judge on the bench and an attorney at the bar. The affair was marked by an interchange of offensive epithets and concluded with a personal collision in which blows were exchanged by two mutual combatants.

For some time the relations have been strained between Superior Judge F. A. Kelley and Attorney E. V. Spencer. In a recent case Spencer had filed an affidavit charging improper conduct on the part of Judge Kelley in allowing his (Spencer's) opposing counsel to discuss the merits of the case in chambers after its submission. Spencer consequently took strong exception to the ruling of the court and several ironical remarks were passed and then Judge Kelley fined Spencer $50 for contempt. Instead of stopping the matter, Judge Kelley's ruling was reversed, Spencer demanding the Court to his face and the Court returning with the ruling in its statement that Spencer was a defier. Not content with beating the attorney as a bar, Judge Kelley followed it up by leaving the bench and striking Spencer. Spencer attempted to strike back, but Deputy Sheriff Martin interfered and the Judge returned to his seat on the bench.

Spencer's temper was not at all soothed by the blow, and he stood at the bar of the court applying to the Judge all the often-heard epithets suggestive of his wrathful state. The Court then ordered the Deputy Sheriff to remove Attorney Spencer. This order was carried out, but afterwards modified and Spencer was allowed to return. The hearing of the case before the court was then resumed.

Judge Spencer is well known in Reno.

Board of Pardons, January Term.

The Board of Pardons met in regular session, all the members being present.

J. J. Gilmore, sentenced in Washoe county in 1892 for nine years for manslaughter, was pardoned. Gilmore is now 64 years of age and his term would expire this year, as he has a clear record at the prison.

The cases of Peter Federicini, sentenced for five years from Washoe county, and of Thomas Burns, sentenced for life in Nye county in 1881, were continued at request of attorneys until Tuesday.

George Hall, convicted in Washoe county in 1896 of burglary and discharged last May, was restored to citizenship. Hall is now at work in Humboldt County, and is said to be sober and industrious.

The Board adjourned until 10 o'clock Tuesday.

An Open Letter.

To A. C. Bragg, Esq., Proprietor of Manager Reno Evening Gazette Publishing Co.—Sir.—I wish to call your special attention to an article published in your issue of this date under the heading of "The Ins and Outs" in which you grossly belie the record of facts and misrepresent me in my action as a Commissioner in connection with the advertising for steel cases, the acceptance of bids and the allowance of the Specialty Company's claim for same. After due reconsideration of what you have published, I shall want to know if you will retract like a man or whether I shall settle with you in my own time and in my own way. An early response awaited.

H. H. BUCK.

Reno, January 10, 1897. *1t.

Who Lost.

Here is another puzzle problem that is going the rounds: A poor man had but 75 cents and wanted to make a dollar purchase. He puzzled long and earnestly over his financial woes and finally solved the difficulty as follows: He took his 75 cents to a pawnshop and pawned it for 50 cents. Going out on the street he told a friend what he had done and offered the pawn ticket for 50 cents. The friend bought it and the poor man went on his way rejoicing. Who lost the 25 cents?

BREVITIES.

Miss Gertrude Martin took the train for California last evening.

Dr. Bagstein, Dr. Holmes and Dr. Fee attended a meeting of the State Medical Association yesterday returning home on last evening's train.

Geo. H. Weston of Helena, Montana, and an old-timer around this part of the country, spent the day here yesterday. He finds many changes and nearly all new faces.

A letter from Clem Lemery, who is at Potosi, says that he has experienced a marked improvement in the condition of his health and is very much encouraged. He has hardly been there long enough, however, to say whether the improvement will be permanent or not.

The leaders of the various parties advocating the free coinage of silver met in conference in Washington, D. C., Saturday to devise plans for a consolidation of the silver forces for the congressional campaign this fall. It was agreed that all silver partisans of whatever party affiliation should be urged to maintain a solid front against the Republican party, as that party advocated the policy of maintaining the gold standard.

A Great Natural Curiosity.

A perfect face of a delicate Jewish cast was discovered in a small stone about as large around as a 10 cent piece found lying on the railroad grade near Junction City, Ore. Not only are the brow, hair, beard and beautiful aquiline nose perfectly shaped and distinct on the stone, but the neck and shoulders are vignotted off into the delicate agate like tracery of the background as it would have been done by an artist.

Not only is the face as delicately beautiful in line as one stamped upon a Greek coin of the reign of Alexander, but in this stone are reproduced the colors of life. The face is white, with a blending of flesh tones, growing deeper in the shadows of the neck and shoulders. The hair in the dark shadow at the back is a rich auburn, just the color associated most often with the ascetic Jewish type to which the whole face belongs. It is perhaps the strangest part of this extraordinary coincidence of forms that each feature, from the cavernous eye and delicate hollowed cheek to the high, narrow brow and wavy auburn hair, is in accord with a familiar type of the Christ. In this respect the Oregon stone is infinitely superior as a work of nature's art to the "Stone Man of Sorrows," about which a book was published in London. This head, in a stone a little larger than the recent discovery, was picked up at Oberamergau as a mere casual memento of the spot, because of its associations with the passion play, and eight years afterward, being held in a certain position, was seen to reveal the face that was somewhat sentimentally supposed to resemble the face of Christ.—Boston Transcript.

If Water Never Froze.

The whole economy of nature would undergo a startling change if water never froze. The world's climates would be revolutionized. The icebound polar seas would cease to exercise their chilling influences, and consequently the currents of the ocean might either cease or be turned aside in different directions.

Thus the gulf stream would seek other shores than those of Britain, and the climate there might be subject to the extremes of heat and cold noticeable in other countries of the same latitude. The icebound rivers of the north, notably those of Russia and Siberia, would be open for navigation, and Russia's activity as a sea power and a commercial nation might alter the whole world of commerce.

Canada would become another country altogether. An immense tract of land would be available for cultivating hardy plants, and Greenland might be what its name indicates. The absence of icebergs off the coasts of Newfoundland and Ireland would result in a much warmer climate to those islands, where now the crops often fail.

Ice, too, plays an important part in the economy of nature. Thus, if water never froze, snow, hail and hoar frost would cease. The loosening of soils and the disintegration of rocks by the frost and many other now vital effects would be lost. In short, the absence of ice would be on the one hand an incalculable disaster, on the other hand a great boon.—London Globe.

A Great Authority on Evolution.

There is a sketch of "A Great Naturalist," the late Edward Drinker Cope, in The Century. It is written by Henry Fairfield Osborn. Professor Osborn says: His pioneer exploration came early in the age of Darwinism, when missing links not only in the human ancestry, but in the greater chain of backboneed animals, were at the highest premium. Thus he was fortunate in recording the discovery in northwestern New Mexico of by far the oldest quadrupeds known, in finding among these the most venerable monkey, in describing to the world hundreds of larks—in fact, whole chains of descent between the most ancient quadrupeds and what we please to call the higher types, especially the horses, camels, tapirs, dogs and cats. He labored successfully to connect the reptiles with the amphibians, and the latter with the fishes, and was as quick as a flash to detect in the paper of another author the oversight of some long sought link which he had been awaiting. Thus in losing him we have lost our latest and most discerning critic. No one has made such profuse and overwhelming demonstration of the actual historical working of the laws of evolution, his popular reputation perhaps resting most widely upon his practical and speculative studies in evolution.

A Day's Journey.

"A day's journey," as the expression is used in the Scripture, means from 10 to 20 miles. The "Sabbath day's journey," frequently mentioned in the Bible, was 2,000 paces, or about three-quarters of a mile. The Jews were forbidden to travel farther than this distance on their Sabbath, but often evaded the prohibition by taking a small quantity of food and burying it in the ground at the required distance from their homes, whereby this spot became technically a habitation, and they could proceed from it another Sabbath day's journey on their way.

Hard Up.

Dad—You are a regular rolling stone, my son. Did you know that a rolling stone never gathers any moss?
Son—Yes, but the rolling stone would like to raise a little dust just now, dad, for a change.—Boston Courier.

Wifely Devotions.

"Poor old Mummyrich! With one leg in the grave."
"Yes, but his young wife is pulling valiantly at the other one."—Indianapolis Journal.

On June 12, 1765, upward of 2,400 salmon were taken above the bridge in the river Tyne and sold in Newcastle at 1d. and 1½d. per pound.

Most of the canal barges in the south of England are worked by women.

The mercury stood at two degrees above zero at the Washoe County Bank corner at midnight and one below at the engine house. It was the coldest night of the season.
